Savannah

By: Peighton Moody, Emily Landers, Eden Levinson, and Cole Bender
Locations

- Africa, Australia, Central America, South America, Southern Asia
- Between latitude 15° N and 30° S
- Between Longitude 15° W and 40° W
Climate

- 61°F. In dry season is 93 °F61°F. In
- Some parts of the Savannah get a lot of rain, while others get very little.
- Rain falls very few times a year. it is called the wet season
- Wet Season if followed by very dry weather for almost the whole year
- Temperature never falls below 20 degrees Celsius
Flora and Fauna Adaptations

Animals
- Cheetah: fast
- Lion: Mane

Plants
- Acacia: thorns and stinging ants
- Baobab: water storage, thorns
Environmental Threats

• Change in rain patterns
• Global Warming
• Development of urban areas, cutting into grasslands
• Certain plants can not survive any longer without pesticides or they will be subjected to harmful pests and diseases
Solutions

• Protect our grasslands
• Protect our wildlife with proper farming technique
• Give the plantlife the proper soil and nutrients they need
• Educate people on the affects of mass building construction near untouched nature
Sources Cited